

Task 8 - deadline 28th February 2011

Well-known excerpts

Reading for pleasure is usually the main reason for reading. According to excerpts - examples from some well-known books - fill in the table (complete table) missing information. You have to read all excerpts first and think about main characters, (sometimes their names are replaced with XY in the texts), think about style of the excerpts etc. It will be helpful to brainstorm what you have already known about the stories. The Author, Book and Main Character boxes also help you.
