4 Read the article about Joe King. Are the statements true (T) or false (F) or doesn't it say (DS)?

Hidden Farm in the Mountains

I met author Joe King in his cottage in the mountains, where he lives with his wife, sheep, goats and two dogs. We talked about his new best-selling detective story. The dogs were running around him all the time. They are large English Setters. He bought them because he likes walking in the hills and wanted someone (or something) to go with him.

He became famous and rich two years ago. Whenever you open a newspaper or celebrity magazine, you see his picture. I asked him about his popularity. He laughed and told me that he really made a fortune but he gave his money to charity. He says he finds it difficult when strangers recognize him in the street, and he doesn't know what to say to them. That's why he prefers living in the mountains.

Joe worked on several murder investigations because he worked as a criminal investigator. So he got a lot of ideas for his books. He says he is surprised to find out how many people have already bought his books. His new book Hidden Farm in the Mountains comes out in hardback next month. Read it!
