Dear Samantha,

I've done something very exciting! You won't believe! I've jumped off a bridge! It was pretty high bridge, over the river Thames, but I didn't fall into the water. It was a bungee jump! I did it with three friends to earn some money for our local hospital. The people who organized it said it wasn't dangerous, but it felt really dangerous! When I looked down before I jumped I felt totally terrible. My whole body was shaking! Then I closed my eyes, counted to three, and jumped. It was great! I felt free for about five seconds. And then I stopped, just a few meters above the water.

When I told the people at work they didn't believe me. But they watched my video, and in the end, they all gave me some money. I've got more than two hundred pounds for the hospital. Now I want to do something different, like jumping out off a plane. My friends think I must be mad. But you only live once! What about you? Have you done anything exciting recently?

Write soon,

Love,
Mandy

1 Mandy jumped into a river.

2 She felt that the jump was dangerous.

3 She was scared before the jump.

4 She opened her eyes before the jump.

5 The jump took about three seconds.

6 She didn't enjoy the jump.

7 Someone made a video of the jump.

8 Now Mandy's thinking of doing something different.
